Teaching, Learning and Assessment

The methods used to enable outcomes to be achieved and demonstrated are as follows:

Acquisition of Learning Outcomes is gained through a range of contact hours including structured lectures, workshops and seminars. Tutor and peer support, and Canvas activities will be used to support student learning. Group exercises and presentations ensure that students gain both experience and an understanding of teamwork. Work-based learning placements enable students to apply theory to real, practical situations. Independent study is encouraged and is supported by formal lectures, workshops and tutorial sessions. Additional support is provided by self-access facilities for ICT in the Library. Throughout the programme students are encouraged to use a variety of media and to broaden their understanding of the subject.

Formal assessment of knowledge, understanding and intellectual skills is through a range of methods including essays, reports, debates, case studies, portfolios, artefacts, presentations (digital/narrated, and in person) and exams. There will be a mix of individual and group assessments. Cognitive skills are developed through the teaching and learning strategies outlined above. All modules in the programme emphasise student-centred learning, involving students in task-based activities followed by discussion, feedback and a wider application of the concepts. In a scaffolded learning approach, these skills will be built upon and developed as the students progress through their programme of study.

All students receive initial generic and module-specific guidance and specialist induction on the identification, location and use of multimedia materials in the library and alternative local and non-local sources. Guidance and feedback on assessments are provided at modular level. Assignments have clear criteria for assessment and indicative and essential sources accompany course outlines.

Oral and written assignments are set at appropriate times in order to support students' learning. Verbal and written feedback foster reflective awareness and independent learning. Deadlines across modules on the programme are monitored carefully to minimise bunching and promote effective time management. Support is given to develop independent skills. Group work is encouraged through inquiry and task-based discussions and workshops. Study skills are taught and assessed in a Level 4 core module and developed progressively (e.g. searching for and presenting information using ICT tools and resources) through Levels 5 and 6.

Effective communication is assessed in all areas of learners' work. Students are encouraged to identify their strengths and weaknesses and set appropriate goals and strategies for achievement.

Programme structure - programme rules and modules

The programme is taught and assessed within the University's Academic Framework for Undergraduate Programmes. It is primarily university based, supplemented by a period of work related learning at Level 5. Modules are delivered over one semester with the exception of the dissertation module at Level 6 which is year-long. All modules other than the dissertation are 20c (the dissertation is 40c). Each module credit represents 10 hours of learning. Modules are core or option, other than the work-related learning modules - where a restricted choice from two is offered. At each level of study 120 credits are required to complete the year. All students will undertake a practice learning module in a relevant setting: involving a placement locally, or abroad, in either the 5206EDSTUD International Placement module or 5208EDSTUD Developing Employability Skills Through Work-Based Learning module. Students will also be supported to develop and recognise their employability skills and confidence through Personal and Professional Development (PDP) activities and critical reflection on their learning and growth throughout their studies.

The programme will also offer the opportunity of 60 credits of study abroad at Level 5. Students will be enrolled on a 360 credit honours with study abroad programme. A 60 credit Level 5 'Study Semester Abroad' (5209EDSTUD) module, will normally replace the semester 2 modules on the standard programme. The aim of this module is to provide students with a semester of study at an approved overseas partner that will replace one semester of their LJMU programme at level 5. This study abroad should cover the same learning outcomes as the modules being replaced. This will be agreed with the host institution in advance. The Level 5 mean for the final award mark will be calculated based upon the 120 credits at Level 5.

Opportunities for work-related learning (location and nature of activities)

All students undertake work-related learning in Level 5 of the programme. The students choose one out of two option modules (5206EDSTUD International Placement or 5208EDSTUD Developing Employability Skills in the Workplace). Both modules run as a 4 week block and the students will set their own outcomes depending on the placement/ organisational type they choose. The range of activities undertaken will vary according to the nature of the placement. The chosen module will be assessed through a portfolio of tasks and where appropriate, an agency log from the employer. The programme's PDP model is designed to provide students with opportunities and support to reflect on, document and learn from their experiences and achievements inside and outside university with the aim of developing their capacity and confidence to represent their skills and achievements to others, and also where relevant translate what they learn and do as an undergraduate to a language that appeals to employers in the contemporary world of work. This is enhanced and expanded on through the work of colleagues in the University Careers Service and external partners.
